

Children's suncream

At Hollies we use high factor, hypoallergenic sun cream to reapply to all children at lunch time.

Unless your child has an allergy to sun cream that means we are unable to apply this cream, we would ask parents not to bring their own sun cream. This would be really helpful; as we are finding children taking cream from their bags and are concerned they may use it without supervision, which could lead to them getting it in their eyes.

If your child asks to bring their own sun cream in it would help if you could explain the reasons why we need to use the Hollies cream.

Thankyou for your help in this matter.
